

Behaviour and Inclusion Mentor

Job Description

Welcome to Think for the Future

Think for the Future's mission is to engage, educate and empower young people to have social and emotional resilience, independence and control in order to achieve their potential. We work predominantly in secondary school settings, providing young people with the social and emotional resilience they may need to help them overcome barriers they may face in their education or their lives.

The pupils we work with are often disengaged from education, close to exclusion or have low aspirations and, at Think for the Future, we offer the opportunity for them to strive and succeed in both their academic and non-academic outcomes, through improvements in resilience, aspirations and behaviour. To access and impact these pupils, we employ relatable individuals who are able to create strong and lasting rapport with these young people and confidently deliver a comprehensive curriculum covering a vast range of topics, from anger and outburst control, to motivation and will-power.

“ Education is the key to unlocking the world,
a passport to freedom ”

Reach New Heights with TFTF

Think for the Future is a dynamic and innovative social enterprise who is committed to their schools, young people and their staff. When you join Think for the Future, you join an organisation who will encourage you to develop your skills and will provide you with opportunities to progress into new roles, gaining new experiences and responsibilities.

You will start your role as a Mentor in one of the three structured provisions we provide to schools.

However, this is just the start of your journey with us!

When you're ready for a new challenge, we'll provide you with opportunities for progression. Whether that be a Team Leader within our Behaviour & Resilience Mentoring provision, taking on the responsibility for an Integrated Behaviour Hub or moving into a management position in an Inclusion Centre, we're able to help you achieve your next career and salary goal in an organisation you'll love.

At TFTF, we understand the importance of providing progression and development opportunities. Mentors have several opportunities for progression, skills growth and role growth. We operate a strong appraisal and 1:1 process whereby Mentors are able to continually focus on their own personal and professional development opportunities and assess their motivations within the role and future career goals within the organisation. There are also multiple opportunities for ongoing personal and professional development through our in-house and external training programmes.

We operate transparent salary bandings, so you're able to plan ahead and we can work with you to help you take your next step with us.

Every individual has their personal TFTF Progression plan that is reviewed multiple times per year, looking at; salary, skill, role and school placement progression!

As a Behaviour & Inclusion Mentor you will be directly and positively impacting the lives of young people

Our Mentors are responsible for developing and delivering our comprehensive and structured social and emotional resilience curriculum in group mentoring sessions, to groups of up to 15 pupils in predominantly secondary school settings. Our mentors address issues that are preventing the pupils from achieving their full potential. Allocated to between 1 and 5 schools, our mentors are responsible for the delivery of the TFTF provision to their cohort of students and work closely with both the Think for the Future team and the schools they're placed in to develop and tailor the programme and ensure they are creating data driven impact for the pupils they're working with.

The main objectives and responsibilities of the role are to:

- Develop and deliver the Mentoring programme in your designated schools
- Work one-to-one, or in small groups with designated pupils with the aim of reducing poor school behaviour, creating long term positive attitude changes and develop pupils' life skills and aspirations
- Ensure the content and delivery of the mentoring sessions is tailored to the needs of the pupils
- Aim to decrease the number of negative behaviour incidents of the pupils you are working with by integrating the use of our advanced data system, Purple, into daily practice
- Manage key relationships with schools and staff
- Work closely with your team to share good practice
- Work closely with your Manager to regularly assess and develop your skills

“ My role is fantastic, not only are you helping and supporting young people in their development but you share their impressive journey that they go on... this job is so rewarding not only for young people but yourself!

Laura, TFTF Behaviour & Resilience Mentor
